

Brain Tumour Research

Brain tumours can affect anyone at any age. They kill more children and adults under the age of 40 than any other cancer., yet historically just 1% of the national spend on cancer research has been allocated to this disease. Their aim is to get more physicians focussed on brain tumour research and to increase the national investment. They have information on symptoms, treatments and a range of support services.

They have online support groups and face to face local groups. Locally Maggie's Centre has a wide range of support groups.
