Have a word

Have a word explains what to do if you notice unreasonable behaviour towards women. Ideas on how to call it out, educate your friends to change their toxic behaviour. How to report people who are doing harm to others. Male violence against women and girls starts with words, such as catcalling, harassing women, belittling or objectifying women and includes violence, threatening behaviour, assault and rape.

Men are most often the perpetrators of violence against women and the aim is to stop this culture of behaviour.

This campaigns from the Mayor of London highlights the behaviour of men and aims to educate and help prevent sexual violence.
