Northumbria Police

Northumbria Police are the local emergency police service in Newcastle. If you are the victim of crime, including hate crime or have witnessed any non-emergency incident in the Northumbria Police area report it online. If it can't be reported online call 101.

If a crime is being committed or you are in danger. Call 999.

You can:

- sign up for text and email alerts for more information about crime in your local area and safety advice
- Tell us something online service is available to report anti social behaviour, abuse, suspicious behaviour, traffic incidents, information that may help with an investigation or non-compliance with coronavirus instructions
- crime prevention advice is also available
- people who are deaf, hard of hearing or speech impaired use the textphone number
- Register for Relay UK emergency text message service for people who are deaf or hard of hearing so you can text 999 in an emergency

Last updated: December 22, 2023

Telephone: 101

Telephone note: To report an incident in non emergency situations

Telephone 3: 07786 200 815

Telephone note 3: Text messaging service for general enquiries for people who are deaf, hard of hearing or speech impaired

Website: www.northumbria.police.uk

Helpline: 999

For emergency or life threatening situations or if a crime is in progress
Textphone: 18000

Website 2: https://www.northumbria.police.uk/ro/report/ocr/af/how-to-report-a-crime/

Twitter: https://twitter.com/npnewcastle

Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/northumbriapolice

Youtube: https://www.youtube.com/northumbriapolice

Cost: Free

Related Articles

Adult abuse

Noise nuisance

Vandalism and graffiti

Security for your home

Security For Your Vehicle

Anti-social behaviour

Drug and alcohol support

Hate crime

Neighbourhood Watch

Personal Safety

Ways to report crime and community safety issues

Problems with your neighbours

Fraud and scams

Bogus callers

Domestic abuse

Support for Asylum Seekers and Refugees