

The National Association of Laryngectomee Clubs (NALC)

The National Association of Laryngectomee Clubs (NALC) looks after the interests of laryngectomees – people who have had a laryngectomy – and their families and friends.

NALC also supports a wide range of healthcare professionals in the UK and worldwide and encourages education, collaboration and research.

They have a Club List on their website where you can find your nearest club that meets in your local area.
