Dying Matters

Dying Matters help people talk more openly about dying, death and bereavement and to make plans for the end of life. You can join the Dying Matters community to receive their updates. They can help you to have those difficult conversations with you family, friends and in your community. You can choose to share your story to help others too.

They have a community grants programme for creative projects to start conversations about death and grief. They work with organisations, decision makers and the public to make things better for people who are dying or grieving.

Dying Matters is a campaign run by the charity, Hospice UK.

Last updated: July 12, 2024

Telephone: 020 7520 8200

Website: www.dyingmatters.org

Twitter: https://twitter.com/DyingMatters

Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/DyingMatters?ref=nf

Cost: Free

Address:
Dying Matters Hospice UK
Hospice House
34-44 Britannia Street
London
WC1X 9JG

Related Articles

End of life care

Planning Ahead: a guide