Support Through Court

Support Through Court is a national charity with a local base in the Newcastle Combined Court. They provide a free, confidential, independent, and impartial support service to people going through the family and civil court process. This includes:

- unrepresented litigants and their friends and families
- inexperienced court users
- witnesses
- victims

They offer:

- someone to talk to
- someone to attend court with you to take notes
- practical information
- help around the building
- somewhere to wait

They are unable to:

- help with legal advice or represent people in hearings, but they may be able to refer you to legal advice agencies.
- look after your children.
- tell you what form to fill in, but they can try to help you find out which one you need and write down what
